BRIDES' SEASON HAS BEGUN

Miss Mary Virginia Fenwick United to Mr. Charles H. Lane.

Ashley-Dean Wedding—Engagement of Miss Josephine Poe and Mr. January—Other Society News.

The marriage of Miss Mary Virginia Fenwick, daughter of Mr. R. W. Fenwick, to Mr. Charles H. Lane took place at 12 o'clock today at E Street Baptist Church.

The decorations were of palms and flowers, and Rev. J. J. Muir officiated. Wedding music, played by Mrs. Brown, organist, heralded the entrance of the bridal party. Six bridesmaids, wearing conventional noon dress and each having a pink carnation on the lapel of her coat.

The bride entered with her father, who gave her hand in marriage. She was attractive in appearance, and was picturesque and lovely in her bridal gown of white silk, draped about the bodice with white chiffon. Her tulle veil was caught to her forehead with a spray of diamonds, the gift of the groom. Mr. George R. Simpson acted as best man.

Mrs. Fenwick, mother of the bride, wore black with red trimmings, and was picturesque and lovely in her bridal gown of white silk, draped about the bodice with white chiffon. Her tulle veil was caught to her forehead with a spray of diamonds, the gift of the groom. Mr. George R. Simpson acted as best man.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was given to the bridal party at the home of the bride's parents.

The drawing-rooms were prettily ornamented with vases of daisies and roses, and flowers decorated the table.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Lane left for Chicago, the bride wearing a handsome traveling gown of wine-colored mohair, with hat to match. On their return the young couple will be at home, No. 1303 N Street northwest.

The marriage of Miss Ada Ashley to Mr. William Wallace Beane took place at noon today, at the First Presbyterian Church.

TEMPLE FOR THE PYTHIANS

Indorsement of the Project for a Handsome Structure Here.

It Would Arouse Greater Interest in the Order—Other Advantages Mentioned.

The Knights of Pythias are enthusiastically pushing their project to build a Pythian temple here. This was originated several years ago, but after considerable money had been collected, and much work done there was a lull in the interest. An organization of those who had taken a share in the efforts of the hall association has been formed, and the project has been revived.

The excursion to Marshall Hall tomorrow is mainly in the interest of the temple for this purpose. A meeting of the association was held last night, plans were discussed and directors were chosen for the ensuing year.

Among those present were Messrs. Harry Coggin, J. B. Mills, Lemuel Fugitt, J. G. Wagner, R. L. Luch, W. B. Remmer, J. W. Carter, A. J. Gunning, H. L. Gasson, William Humphrey, T. H. Hall, F. T. Scott, E. G. Niles, W. P. Bateman, S. W. Edmunds, H. L. Cramer, J. C. Fraser, J. C. Yost, John W. Harrell, A. H. McDaniel, J. K. Maquinn, Richard Goodhart and J. W. Bradbury.

The president, A. J. Gunning, occupied the chair, and H. J. Gasson, the clerk, kept record of proceedings. Reports were read, showing what had been done to date, how much stock had been subscribed and how the money had been used. It was shown that the association owns the lot on the west side of Ninth street, at the north corner of the alley between L and M, but has still a comparatively small debt to pay upon it. There was some discussion of whether that would be the most desirable point to build.

A number of opinions were expressed, with the general sentiment that it might be better to use the lot, unless some liberal inducement should be offered to the contrary. Upon the question who had a right to vote and who was eligible to election as director there was some discussion. Some of the stock represented had not been paid for in full, and there was doubt whether it could properly be voted.

Finally it was decided by unanimous consent to call a ballot for the board of directors who had stood for a year past, as follows: A. J. Gunning, J. Humphrey, J. C. Fraser, J. C. Yost, J. W. Harrell, J. K. Maquinn, Richard Goodhart, and J. W. Bradbury. Mr. J. H. Mills declined a nomination on the ground that he could not give the matter proper attention.

The board of directors will meet next Friday and organize for the year.

It is urged in favor of the temple that it would probably bring here from Chicago the headquarters of the order, and that it would be a landmark of the order in this city, and put Washington in the true relation of the mother city of the Knights of Pythias.

It is believed by many that a magnificent meeting place for the Knights could be obtained at the same time a reasonable return upon the investment would be secured.

REMOVAL OF BLAINE'S BODY

It Is Believed His Widow Will Re-inter It at Augusta, Me.

Home of the Family Will Be Made There in Future—The Reasons Not Fully Known.

It is reported that Mrs. James G. Blaine has decided to have the body of her husband removed from its present resting place in Oak Hill cemetery, in this city, to Augusta, Me., his former home. She wishes that the body of her husband be re-interred in the family lot in Forest Hill cemetery, which she has purchased for the purpose.

The fact that a statement was made several months ago is considered by some as corroborative evidence that such a purpose has been formed. The statement indicates that the body of the late Mr. Blaine would be removed to Augusta, Me., for its final resting place. It is a site commanding a magnificent view of the surrounding country. The removal will be made at an early date.

Some who have known the family think that it may be true, as the family home has always been in Augusta. Mrs. Blaine owns a residence here and a cottage at Bar Harbor, with considerable other property, but the home has always been in Maine.

It is believed to be on account of the unsentimental that keeps out and noted of the surrounding country. The removal will be made at an early date.

In addition to this, there is undoubtedly a feeling among the intimate friends of Mr. Blaine, if not with his family, that the grave here has been selected by the public; that the cosmopolitan population of this city has shown anything like the reverence that would be accorded the sacred spot at Augusta.

Of the immediate family is here now. Mr. James G. Blaine, Jr., who has spent a good part of his time here for several months past, is now in New York. The remainder of the family are in Maine.

WHIRLS OF THE WHEEL

Aftermath of the Irvington-Milburn Road Race.

HADFIELD MAY BRING SUIT

Two Young Men Start from New York to 'Frisco by Wheel—A. A. Chase Lowers a Number of Records in London—Killed by His Motor Cycle—Interesting Gossip.

Bicycle sharp and admirers of cycle racing find plenty of fresh material for discussion and comment in reviewing the greatest contest ever held over the Irvington-Milburn course. Everybody is of the opinion that the big Memorial Day handicap was beyond all question the affair par excellence of the racing season.

It is reported that Hadfield, who finished first in the Irvington-Milburn race and was disqualified for accepting a bribe, will bring proceedings to enjoin the officials from giving first prize to Alexander, the next man. Hadfield says he was the victim of a conspiracy, and that he was ousted in riding in front of him, and from whom he could not get away. He persistently warned the rider that he was an amateur, but this warning was of no avail. The officials claim that Hadfield might not have finished first had it not been for this "unknown" pacer.

The interference of spectators greatly handicapped the race, and the world records would have been smashed to pieces. Champion Zimmerman, in his account of the race, finds fault with the number in which the winner rode and gives him some advice. It was the first appearance as a racer of the young man, who has been a prize, and it seems that a man who is capable of jumping out at a first attempt will win the first honor in such a big event as the Irvington-Milburn race will bear watching, and at the same time be able in short while to give even the great Arthur August advice on how to win a race.

Norman De Vaux and John La Chausse, two young men from Canton, Ohio, left the city last night, on Sunday, for the trip to Harrisburg on the wheel in one hour and forty minutes. The distance is twenty-six miles and the road is an unusually hilly one. In addition, he had a strong head wind to face.

Paced by a tandem John Copenhaver, of Lebanon, Pa., on Sunday, the trip to Harrisburg on the wheel in one hour and forty minutes. The distance is twenty-six miles and the road is an unusually hilly one. In addition, he had a strong head wind to face.

The accomplishments of A. A. Chase in London is one that will interest American bicyclists. He beat the fifty-mile cycling record on the Wood Green track. The pace was a very hot one from the start. The two, three, and four-mile professional records were altered, and then, after slowing down a bit, he began again, and from the seventh mile, inclusive, he rubbed out all previous tests, including Michael's records, up to twenty-seven miles. J. W. Stock's time for twenty-eight miles was beaten, and riding splendidly, new records were established. He finished the race in 2 minutes 59 4-5 seconds. In his first hour Chase covered 29 miles and 2 yards, thus beating Stock's previous best 29 miles and 45 yards. The fifty miles he covered in 1 hour 45 minutes 38 3-5 seconds.

S. H. Roper, of Roxbury, a mechanical engineer, while pacing Tom Butler, the professional bicyclist, with a steam bicycle, which Roper had invented, was killed at the Charles River Park track, Boston, yesterday. Roper's machine became unmanageable, and he was thrown, striking upon his head. He died a few moments later. Roper, who was seventy years of age, had been at work on his motor twenty-five years.

The Louisville national meet, where the national championships will be run, will witness one of the greatest racing of the year. Macdonald, of England, Zimmerman, brother of Johnnie, and several other riders will start their American season at the meet. The Louisville track is the first track in years on which the national championships have been scheduled, and that would enable the fair running of these.

At other points the track has been a great drawback, but here is one of the very finest tracks in the world, and the racing will be its merits in every contest. The prizes will aggregate $3,000 in three days. Louisville will probably have the largest representation of American racing talent that it is possible to get together, and this means much, as two or three hundred professionals will be taking part in the game this season.

According to a cablegram received by the Kelly American Wheelman, the C. T. championships were run Saturday at Wood Green track in London. Green won the five-mile professional, while Brown won the amateur one-mile and Dracott the twenty-five-mile. A cablegram from Paris to the same paper says that MacDonald beat Johnson at the Seine track on Sunday in an open race, in which Johnson was fourth.

Sometimes, without striving for effect, lady riders put together decidedly novel and handsome costumes. For instance, MacDonald, the young woman in Fairmount Park on Sunday who wore a series of simple black skirt. It was draped about her figure with much grace. Over a waist of heliotrope color she wore a bolero, with open work. A Tam O'Shanter, with a bar of fluffy something at the neck, it was pinned rakishly to her black braids, and her looked back the second time and noted that she was the most striking woman on the road. Her complexion was beautifully clear and her cheeks the color of old-damask roses that blushed singers in days gone by thought so attractive.

At Catford yesterday bicyclist J. W. Stocks beat the records for from three to seven miles. The latter distance he covered in 13 minutes 31 4-5 seconds.

Detroit is trying to get up a bicycle meet again. Three years ago two bicycle meets were held there, one of which was a success. The meet was well attended, but the Detroit racing cards, the meet was failures financially. The boom that wheeling received last year has inspired some adventurous spirits with the belief that a meet would succeed.

The March-Davis Cycle Company of Chicago assigned yesterday. Assets, $60,000; liabilities, $70,000.
